

Suffer From CHRONIC HIVES?

Explore a clinical trial now evaluating a first-in-class medication that may help.

Chronic urticaria or hives is an allergic reaction to an allergen and can cause wheals (raised itchy areas of skin), swelling, and itching. If you struggle with hives that aren't responding to antihistamines, a clinical trial now enrolling may be right for you.

Qualified Participants Must:

- Be 18 years of age or older
- Have a diagnosis of hives for at least 6 months
- Not be responding to daily use of non-drowsy antihistamines

ADDITIONAL CRITERIA APPLY

Qualified Participants May:

- Have access to a first-in-class medication to treat hives
- See a doctor or medical staff at no cost
- Receive compensation for time and travel
